

From: Charlene @ A Pinch of Joy

You can read more about this banner at <http://www.apinchofjoy.com/?p=5083>

From: Charlene @ A Pinch of Joy

You can read more about this banner at <http://www.apinchofjoy.com/?p=5083>

From: Charlene @ A Pinch of Joy

You can read more about this banner at <http://www.apinchofjoy.com/?p=5083>

Directions:

1. Print on letter sized paper or card stock.
2. Cut out each flag, leaving the white portion on the LEFT side of each one.
3. Fold the white portion over a ribbon, butcher twine, or whatever you choose for the base of your banner. I used quarter inch grosgrain ribbon. Be sure to leave plenty of extra ribbon on both ends for hanging the finished banner. Tape each folded tab securely to the back of the flag. A little pocket is created that will let you slide the flag along the ribbon. If you want stability and don't want the flags to move, staple the flags to the ribbon.
4. You can add spacers if you want – I used muslin strips, each about 1 inch by 10 inches, tied in between each flag. Red or blue striped paper an inch or so wide, folded and taped would add more color and length to the banner. Big red/white/blue wooden beads, or red/white/blue ribbons would also work.